GERMANS CONTINUE STRIKE FOR VERDUN

Have Gained a Few Small Portions of French Trenches
East of Le Mort Homme

Iskuli Bridgehead Was Stopped by the Russians—
Germany and Rumania Have Entered Into a Compact for Exchange of Home Products.

The armies of the German crown prince around Verdun are still vigorously on the offensive against the French. Having delivered at attack along the line from Le Mort Homme to Cumieres which netted them a few small portions of French trenches on the east of Le Mort Homme, the German commanders rested their infantry here; but in the region of Douaumont-Vaux, northeast of Verdun, threw their men in large numbers against the French trenches. Here again they met with success, but only for a short period of time, for the French had a counter-attack drove the invaders from advanced sections of trenches they had captured, and in the operations took about one hundred German prisoners. While the Douaumont-Vaux attack was in progress the Germans had not forgotten the line between Le Mort Homme and Cumieres and covered the entire region with an intense artillery fire, probably preparing for another attack by infantry. Along the remainder of the front in France and Belgium there were only artillery bombardments. In one of these—north of the Aisne—the French guns caused serious losses to a strong German column. In the Russian theatre an attempt by the Germans to take the offensive in the region of the Iskuli bridgehead was stopped by the Russians. The big guns of both sides have

CABINET DISCUSSES SUBMARINE ISSUE

Outline of Future Course Has Been Agreed Upon.

Washington, April 11.—The submarine issue between Germany and the United States was discussed in all its phases today at a meeting of President Wilson and his cabinet. A general outline of the future course of the American government is understood to have been agreed upon, although a final decision was postponed pending receipt of the German note regarding the Sussex and other merchant ships which recently have met disaster and additional evidence in the same cases collected by American diplomats and made known to the public. It is known through confidential advisers from Ambassador Gerard that the note from Berlin will deny that any German submarine torpedoed the Sussex and disclaim blame in connection with other attacks about which the ambassador has inquired. Consequently in spite of the convincing evidence in the hands of the state department any reply that may be sent probably will deal exclusively with any one case or group of cases. If any communication is now contemplated in connection with the Sussex, it is designed to preclude the possibility of further drawn-out diplomatic exchanges and make plain that reiterated assurances and promises that international law will be respected cannot protect the friendly relations between the two countries if illegal attacks upon peaceful merchantmen carrying Americans are continued. It is probable that a general resumption of all the many vessels attacked from the time of the Lusitania down to the present.

FAILEL KILL HIS WIFE, FATALLY WOUNDED HIMSELF

Tragic Act of Louis H. Wolter of Bridgeport, a Cigar-maker.

Bridgeport, Conn., April 11.—Louis H. Wolter, 40 years old, a cigar-maker, tried to kill his wife and himself in their rooming house at 80 Cannon street this afternoon. He shot his wife in the right thigh and the right shoulder, then fired a bullet into his temple. He is dying in a local hospital. He is in the same hospital but will recover. In a note found in Wolter's apartment he says that he intended killing himself, as Mrs. Wolter's first husband, Frank Ames, had done. Ames committed suicide by gas poisoning ten years ago. Wolter also wrote a note for Attorney Dwight W. Tuttle of East Haven, accusing Tuttle of breaching his home. Mrs. Wolter said she had brought suit for divorce a few weeks ago. "I'll get you," Wolter said when she saw him as he entered the place today. She then fired the shot which followed, firing. Two shots took effect, but she staggered down a second flight to the street. Wolter was found unconscious in a room a few minutes later. Mrs. Wolter had not seen him before, in about two weeks. She conducts a rooming house in New Haven.

Embargoes To End Friday Midnight In new Britain

ON NEW HAVEN ROAD, EXCEPT AS TO EXPORT FREIGHT
IN MODERATE SHIPMENTS

Interstate Commerce Commissioner
Clark Advises Shippers and Receivers of Freight to Utilize All Cars to the Fullest Carrying Capacity.

New York, April 11.—Embargoes, except as to export freight, will be virtually lifted on the New York, New Haven and Hartford railroad at midnight Friday, it was announced here tonight. Embargoes on connecting lines will be modified as nearly as possible to conform with the action.

Shipments in Moderation.

Interstate Commerce Commissioner Clark, who has been participating in the eastern freight accumulation conference, issued a statement in which he declared that if shippers and receivers of freight desire to escape further embargo on the New Haven line they must arrange shipments in moderation and utilize all cars to the fullest carrying capacity.

Remaining in Force.

The New Haven embargo remaining in force are against several cities, including Waterbury, Bristol, New Britain and Hartford, as well as against cotton consigned to Fall River and Wapuna, Mass., and a few individual concerns which have accumulated freight in excess of their present ability to unload.

Bituminous and Anthracite Coal.

MANY DYING OF STARVATION IN ALBANIA.

150,000 Deaths in Last 18 Months—
500,000 Likely to Die.

Paris, April 11, 11.10 a. m.—William H. Howard of New York, secretary of the Albanian relief committee, who left Paris today on his way to the United States from Albania, said that 150,000 human beings are dying of starvation in Albania during the last 18 months, and that 500,000 were likely to die before normal conditions in that country were resumed.

Famine due to the failure of the crops as a result of the excessive rains, and the fact that the Albanians are unable to produce enough to feed themselves. The famine is a terrible one, and the Albanians are suffering greatly. The famine is a terrible one, and the Albanians are suffering greatly.

PENROSE ON APPROACHING NATIONAL CAMPAIGN

Says Republicans Face Great Responsibilities in Principles and Candidates.

Lancaster, Pa., April 11.—United States Senator Penrose in an address tonight at the annual banquet of the Republican club of this city said that not since the Civil war has the republican party faced such great responsibilities as will confront it in the approaching national campaign. In the enumeration of principles and the selection of candidates, the senator said, the party must subordinate every personal interest or petty conviction of opinion that stands as an obstacle to the performance of its duties. The feeling prevails among republican leaders, Senator Penrose said, "that the party must subordinate every personal interest or petty conviction of opinion that stands as an obstacle to the performance of its duties."

DISPARAGEMENT OF DEMOCRACY IS CHEERED

Senator McLean Attacks President Wilson's Handling of Revenue Measure, His Mexican and Foreign Policy and Tells of Fundamental Weakness of Democratic Party—

Convention at Chicago—A. E. Shedd Represents
19th District on Resolutions Committee—Senator McLean
Spoken of for Permanent Chairman—A Short Session is Anticipated Today, as There Are Few Contests Over District Delegates to the Chicago Convention.

Hartford, April 11.—The republican state convention, which opened here today, promises to be a harmonious one. It is expected that the United States Senator George P. McLean, with a stirring address.

Roraback Introduced McLean. The Foot Guard Army was fairly well filled with the republican party. Roraback introduced Senator McLean. At a few conventions held in the army, McLean had more effort been expended to make the interior attractive to the eye, flags being used for decorative effect and palms and potted plants being banked on each wing of the stage.

Senator McLean Greeted With Applause. Senator McLean was greeted with applause and in acknowledging this he said that he was glad to look into the faces of the men who will help elect the next president of the United States.

Preparation and Protection. Declaring that the republican party in the fall campaign will be a banner with the promise of "peace and prosperity," unqualifiedly attacking the democratic administration for its tariff, banking and trade policies and criticizing the Mexican and foreign policies of President Wilson, United States Senator George P. McLean, opened the republican state convention.

McLean's address was well received. He declared that the republican party was essential to an adequate American navy and military policy were outlined here today to the annual convention of the League of the United States by its chairman, Perry Belmont. They were: Creation of a council of national defense, abolition of the volunteer system and issuance of national defense bonds.

Other speakers made plans for naval preparedness and for private manufacture of war munitions. Mr. Belmont contended it was unfair to compare the republican party to a generation without a commission to gather information necessary for the formulation of a policy. The present volunteer system, he said, would interfere in time of war with the production of goods and services from all trades and calling for a defense bond should be issued and so extended that no one generation would have to bear the whole burden.

"Compliance with the democratic platform of 1912, which means a plan for national defense in its broadest sense, including the establishment of a council of national defense, the chairman of the republican party, Belmont, declared, would have resulted long since in a recommendation to Congress for a military program and a financial plan to carry the program into effect."
